Slattery Graduate Program 2022

January 2022 - December 2022

Fast track your career!

What is it?

A head start to your professional career at Australia's leading property advisory and quantity surveying firm.

Participants will be allocated a mentor to oversee their development and supervise their applications for AIQS or RICS membership, should the participant choose to enrol in either.

Experience all core quantity surveying services and business operations, including: cost planning, construction phase cost management, asset management, tendering/procurement, bills of quantities and all other facets of quantity surveying.

The program will run from January 2022 to December 2022.

Who can apply?

Slattery welcomes recent or upcoming graduates from property and construction related degrees to apply for the 2022 Graduate Program.

The program reflects Slattery's commitment to diversity, by recruiting all graduates, no matter their gender, nationality or lifestyle choice.

Aboriginal and Indigenous graduates are strongly encouraged to apply for this program.

Why should you apply?

Kick start your career and experience all facets of professional services in the property industry!

At Slattery we are committed to...

- Giving graduates a start to their career
- Being an employer of choice and attracting the best talent
- Creating better community outcomes through the built environment
- Slattery's 'Innovate' Reconciliation Plan has been officially endorsed

What a recent graduate has to say...

“The Graduate Program at Slattery has provided me wealth of opportunities for both career progression and personal development. The people, culture and values are what attracted me the most. The diversity and open culture have made me a more well-rounded person. I was able to work across multiple projects with people from different backgrounds and develop soft skills that weren’t taught in University. Everything you need is taught on the job and when I look back, I am really proud of what I have learnt compared to what I knew at the start of the program.”
